Mishap Injures Three Madison Firemen

Three Madison volunteer firemen were injured when the brakes failed on a fire truck and it struck a bump on Third Street at McCambridge Avenue on the way to a fire at 4:45 p.m. yesterday.

One fireman was thrown from the truck and the others complained of injuries where they struck parts of the truck.

Fireman Terry Scrum, 22, of 1819 Second St., Madison, was injured seriously as he was thrown from the rear of the truck onto the pavement. He was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was admitted with lacerations to his forehead, chin and elbow which required 75 sutures. He also suffered abrasions to his head, hands and both legs.

Also admitted to the hospital was Fireman Andy Economy, 24, of 1519 Fifth St., who struck his forehead on the windshield. Economy suffered an abrasion and a contusion to his forehead.

Fireman John Michaels, 62, of 1728 Fifth St., Madison, was treated for abrasions and contusions to both legs and was released.

The firemen were unaware that Scrum had fallen from the rear of the vehicle and continued to the fire, using the truck's emergency brake. Policemen who saw Scrum fall called for an ambulance.

The fire was at the home of Dorothy Powers, 1001 Fourth St., Madison, where a burning mattress set the rear bedroom ablaze. Damage to the home was estimated at $3,000.

Randolph Vancil, 30, U. S. Army, of 528 Alton St., Madison, was pinned against the steering wheel of his auto at 12:30 a.m. Sunday. After the car struck a bump on a TRRA train at the 14th and State streets railroad crossing, Vancil was traveling north on State Street at the time of the accident. Police said there appeared to be no warning device in operation.

The motorist was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he was treated for small cuts to the upper lip and chin, and underwent skull and chest x-rays and a brain scan. Scott Air Force Base Hospital. His condition was not considered critical, a hospital spokesman said.

Operating the TRRA train was Engineer R. L. Raab of St. Louis County.

Mother, Child Hurt
A mother and daughter were treated for minor injuries at St. Elizabeth Hospital at 9:25 p.m. Saturday, after an auto operated by the mother struck the rear of a car parked in the 1500 block of St. Clair Avenue.

Involved in the accident was Mrs. Lavinia Maxine Hoeller, 36, of 2216 Cardinal Ave., who was driving a westbound vehicle on St. Clair which struck a parked auto belonging to Irvin T. Smith of East St. Louis, according to police.

GC Youth, 21, Wounded Fatally

A 21-year-old Granite City man died Friday afternoon of a gunshot wound suffered while he and a friend, 16, were playing with a pistol.

The victim was John Cornett, 2801 Cayuga St. Police said he was shot once in the left side, the bullet exiting from the right side.

The shooting occurred in a basement apartment in the 2700 block of Denver Street at 3:10 p.m. Cornett was pronounced dead at St. Elizabeth Hospital 20 minutes later.

According to police, the juvenile told them that he took the gun from a shelf in the apartment and gave it to Cornett. While both of them sat on a sofa, police said the boy, Cornett, pulled the slide of the automatic and pulled the trigger. The gun did not fire.

Cornett worked the slide again and handed the gun to the boy, police said they were told. Cornett rose from the sofa and started to walk away when the gun fired.

Officers said the boy told them he did not remember pointing the gun at Cornett, and quoted him as saying that he was "just holding the gun when it fired."

The boy was questioned by police but was released to his parents pending further investigation. Several other children were in the apartment at the time of the shooting.

Police reported the boy was lying on the floor, his head near a doorway where he applied mouth-to-mouth respiration and the victim bled to death. An ambulance was summoned and Cornett was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he was pronounced dead. An autopsy will be held.

Another S-SW Degree Program Is Imperiled

Southern Illinois University-Southwestern will be hampered seriously in its outreach and development, and higher education in Illinois will be in difficulty for many years as a result of budget cuts made by the Illinois Board of Higher Education, Dr. John S. Rendleman, president of SIU-SW said Thursday.

The BHE recommended an operating budget of $28.7 million for SIU-SW for the fiscal year beginning July 1. This is $9.9 million less than the amount originally requested based on budget guidelines developed by the BHE which universities were instructed to follow. It is $4.2 million less than the amount approved by SIU trustees in November after Rendleman made voluntary cutbacks.

If the BHE recommendations are adopted by the governor and the legislature it will be the second consecutive year that SIU-SW has had to make major budget cuts. The president said he would recommend to the Board of Trustees that the university operate at the level of dollars made available by the legislature and not follow the recommendations of the BHE which indicate that SIU-SW should "immediately and henceforth cut certain programs."

Rendleman's comments on the BHE action were made on a new, live, weekly program broadcast by WSIU-FM, the university-owned educational radio station.

Resounding Effect
"The real difficulty (with the cuts) will be the invidious kind of dismantling of higher education throughout the state that is taking place through these economic cutbacks," Rendleman said.

He predicted the cuts, adopted Jan. 4, will have a "resounding effect on young people who are now in the first, second and third grade."

The BHE cuts were made on almost all state university budgets.

Speaking specifically of SIU-SW, Rendleman said "we are going to be denied the opportunity for greatness which was the promise of this institution. We are simply going to be denied the opportunity to add to the socio-economic development of this greater metropolitan area," the president said.

Rendleman predicted no more "across the board" budget cuts within the university and an enrollment ceiling of approximately 13,000. The BHE recommendations are not changed. "Every department of the university will be affected by this budget cut," the president said. If an enrollment ceiling is enforced it will be the second in SIU-SW history. A limit of 13,700 was established for the fall of 1970 because of an acute shortage of classroom space. Enrollment in September, 1971, was 12,856.

A freeze on faculty staff addition and replacements is already in effect, and the president said he feared a tuition increase would be proposed.

New Programs Cut
The budget recommended for SIU-SW is an increase of 3.1% over the fiscal year budget for 1972-73 must account for approximately 11.9% of the present base.

Included in the recommendation is more than $1 million for the School of Dental Medicine, $31,000 for a masters degree program in nursing and $125,000 for ethnic and special studies, all of which are considered new programs by the BHE.

The BHE adopted a staff report recommending elimination of SIU-SW's three-year-old program in engineering and substantially reducing training in secondary education. The board contends that the engineering program has never been approved by the BHE.

Rendleman said the recommendation to eliminate engineering was adopted despite the

Bids Opened for Chain of Rock Locks Expansion

Colonel Guy E. J. Schumacher, U. S. Army Engineer, announced Friday that bids for the construction of the upper gate locks and Dam 27 at the Mississippi River.

The apparent low bid received was $14.5 million from the Frank-Coleman Corporation of St. Louis.

The concrete guideway will extend approximately 600 feet from the existing intermediate lockway to the upper gate locks.

The bid was received by the U. S. Army Engineer District, St. Louis, and will be opened in the near future.

The project is part of a larger expansion of the locks and Dam 27 at the Mississippi River. The project is being completed by the U. S. Army Engineer District, St. Louis.

March of Dimes Is Launched

Corporation ceremonies of a queen and her court will reign during the March of Dimes campaign this month were conducted during a luncheon at the Elks Club Saturday morning.

The event was the official kick-off of the annual campaign for funds headed by Mrs. L. Chaboude as chairman.

Major Donald Partney signed a proclamation declaring the month of January as March of Dimes Month.

The proclamation stated in part: "Generous public contributions have made it possible for the March of Dimes to establish a network of more than 100 medical service programs across the country for research, education, medical and community services."

Members of the Granite City High School student council assisted with the drive and have named Mark Senak and Jean Bunselmeyer as co-chairmen for student participation.

Disagreement Threatens City's Treatment Plan, Drainage for Townships

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer
Granite City's Mayor Donald Partney and a majority bloc of city council members — opponents of long standing in many council conflicts — have been caught up in a new controversy that will threaten the structure of the city's $15.3 million secondary sewage treatment program.

Disagreement between the mayor and his principal opponents on the council floor already has resulted in several months delay in development of the treatment project, a program that was pressed for time even from the day it was initiated last summer.

State and federal environmental officials have mandated Dec. 31, 1973, as the deadline for completing construction of a secondary sewage treatment plant and a system of intercepting sewers.

With financing methods still undetermined and detailed construction planning only in its initial stage, the prospect of meeting the deadline is unlikely even with the fullest cooperation between city officials and speedy disposition of planning and financing problems.

Engineers handling the project warned city officials more than a month ago that it would be "nip and tuck" to meet the deadline.

At the same time, any delay in the development of the city's secondary treatment program similarly affects separate plans for a Quad-City area sewer system sponsored by Madison County and designed to provide sanitary sewer service to the now unsewered areas of Venice, Nameoki and Chouteau townships.

The township program depends to a great extent upon the Granite City planning since township sewer lines are proposed to connect with the interceptors to Granite City treatment facilities. The townships would "buy" its sewage treatment from Granite City on a fee basis.

Planning by the townships has advanced, however, to the point that officials in charge of that project have decided to wait no longer on Granite City progress, which at first they had agreed to do. As a result, a preliminary plan and reports to the township governing bodies for state and federal aid will be based, having been filed with state officials by the township.

The Granite City program has almost continuous delay since state environmental officials notified the city early in 1971 that it would be required to upgrade sewage treatment facilities. In preliminary estimates made by Partney, who based his projections on previous sewer treatment programs, the mayor said he expected the treatment program to cost the city about $7 million.

The council took six weeks to select a special engineer for the project and it was not until mid-March 1971 that a compromise agreement was reached between the mayor and a group of council members who first authorized the appointment of Dave Johnson, an East St. Louis engineer who had performed sewer engineering work for the city in the early 1960s.

Opposed Johnson
Partney's cronies opposed Johnson's appointment as engineer for the sewage treatment program. He vetoed council action naming Johnson and then offered the alternate a list of "compromise" engineering firms. As a result, the council eventually hired the M. W. Architects and Engineers, Inc., an Indianapolis-based firm which has offices in St. Louis.

During the summer months, the M. W. engineers prepared a preliminary plan and studies. The studies projected the overall cost at $15.3 million, more than double the mayor's original estimate.

In the Oct. 18 council session, Ray C. Hallor, vice-president of the M. W. firm, informed the council that preliminary plans and reports had been completed and filed with the state, and that the engineers were prepared to begin detailed plans.

The engineering fees for the city were without funds at that time to authorize continued planning. He asked the council to withhold authorization of the detailed methods for financing the work.

Remains Inactive
The project remained inactive through the rest of October and November, although council members on several occasions urged that the engineers be permitted to begin construction planning. On at least two occasions, engineers appeared at council meetings and warned that time was running out if

His nephew, Charles Mitchell, 1112 Reynolds St., Madison, answered one call and drove to Mr. McClintock's home where he found the elderly man sitting in a chair, with no sign of life, officers said.

Better Year for Steel Industry Expected, Imports Still Problem

By JOHN P. ROCHE
President, American Iron and Steel Institute

The year 1971 was a period of trial and challenge for the domestic steel industry. But the difficulties experienced were matched by achievements of which the industry can be extremely proud.

The steel industry continues in the forefront of the national effort directed at improving our environment, having committed more than $1.3 billion to air and water pollution control facilities.

In 1971, the Council on Environmental Quality reported that in the previous year the steel industry had put a larger share of its capital expenditures into environmental improvement facilities than any other industry.

It is important to note that every dollar of capital investment in pollution control also results in an estimated 12-cent increase in operating costs.

Since the 1930s, the industry, largely through American Iron and Steel Institute, has sponsored research that has pioneered many pollution control innovations. This research is a continuing process.

In cooperation with the Environmental Protection Agency, American Iron and Steel Institute soon will begin full-scale testing of a steel-industry-developed process for "zero-loss" charging of coal to coke ovens.

During 1971, the steel industry established 73 can-collection centers in 30 cities in 13 states. They accept all kinds of cans, regardless of their composition, and the steel cans are recycled into new steel.

In launching the program, Edwin H. Gott, chairman of AISI and U. S. Steel, said, "We share the growing public concern over the problems of litter and solid waste disposal of which steel cans are a part, albeit a small part."

"We are taking prompt and effective action to help reclaim discarded cans and to recycle them in our furnaces, giving them new life as useful, steel products."

Historically, the steel industry has been the recycling industry. In the past 30 years, from 55% to 57% of the raw materials used to make new steel have been recycled metal.

In addition to investing heavily in air and water pollution control equipment, steel companies continue to invest huge sums in new steelmaking technology. Domestic steel companies expected to spend over $1.5 billion on modernization of facilities during 1971, pushing industry capital spending since 1960 close to $20 billion.

Domestic steelmakers expanded their use of the basic oxygen process, continuous slab casting, vacuum degassing and other advanced processes.

In 1971 there also occurred increasingly large-scale use of argon-oxygen refining of stainless steels and electroslag processing of alloy steels—processes which some observers feel can be as significant to specialty steel technology as the basic oxygen furnace has been to carbon steel production.

Significant strides also were made in the direction of developing direct reduction processes which might set the stage for continuous steelmaking.

The domestic steel industry continued to make massive investments at a time when its markets had been eroded by the weakening of general business activity and a surge in steel imports.

This year's end, imports were approaching the all-time annual record of nearly 15 million tons, despite a target ceiling of 15.4 million tons foreseen under the voluntary export restraint arrangement.

As a result of eroded markets, 4 of 11 domestic steel production in 1971 was only about 120 million tons, a drop from 1970's 132 million ton output. Still shipments of about 86 million tons were down five million tons from the 91 million reported for 1970.

At the year's end, however, production was slowly increasing, and prospects are for better industry performance during 1972.

The prospects were enhanced by the series of dramatic moves taken by President Nixon in the last half of the year.

His new economic program heavily curbed the inflationary spiral of the past several years and encourage both consumer spending and new industrial investment.

A key element in Mr. Nixon's program, strongly supported by the industry, is his tax reduction package.

The personal income tax cuts and the elimination of the auto luxury tax should spur consumer spending.

The seven percent job development credit should aid steel in two ways: It should encourage greater investment in machinery and equipment, and help steelmakers finance the capital spending programs necessary to keep the domestic industry competitive with foreign producers.

Engineer Studies May Be Dropped At Area Campus

Several hundred students at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern may be forced to drop their engineering studies altogether if an Illinois Board of Higher Education decision is accepted, says Julius Brown, engineering department chairman.

The Board of Higher Education, meeting last week in Chicago, accepted a recommendation from its staff that the engineering program be eliminated to save $222,726 in the fiscal year to begin July 1.

Brown said the program, started in 1968, currently has about 200 junior and senior students who have declared engineering as their major field. He said there are additional freshmen and sophomores in the pre-engineering courses.

Many of the students could not afford to transfer to engineering programs elsewhere in Illinois. Brown said. The closest programs are at SIU at Carbondale and at the University of Illinois at Urbana.

Commuting Students "We estimate that 80 to 90% of the students couldn't continue if the program is eliminated," Brown said. Noting that SIU-SW was established to serve commuting students, Brown said, "Some students just can't afford to leave home."

Spring Registration Appointment Cards Set

Students at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern may begin picking up spring quarter registration appointment cards on Jan. 17.

Cards will be given out in the registrar's office on the first floor of the General Office Building.

C. B. Collier, assistant registrar, said cards will be available from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Jan. 17 and Jan. 18-20, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Jan. 19 and Jan. 21 and from 8 a.m. to noon Jan. 22.

Registration by appointment will start Feb. 22.

The Board of Higher Education is looking at the state-wide picture, that's true, but elimination of our program would discriminate against poor students."

Brown said elimination of the program would directly affect eight full-time faculty members.

Laurence McAneny, Science and Technology Division dean, said he appeared before the Board of Higher Education staff last month in Springfield to oppose the program elimination.

James Holderman, board executive director, objected to a hearing and in his report Tuesday to the Board of Higher Education said that the engineering program has not even been "reviewed or approved" by the board.

Objections Voiced McAneny said Holderman's objections arose from a difference of interpretation over whether establishment of an engineering program for SIU-SW was approved at the same time the engineering program at SIU-C was approved.

"I told Mr. Holderman that we should look at this program in terms of the need for it and worry about historical differences later," McAneny said.

McAneny said the board's action Tuesday is an order to cut the SIU-SW budget by $222,726, but is merely a recommendation to the Board of Trustees that engineering be eliminated.

McAneny said he hopes the trustees will decide to retain the program.

Troopers to Drivers-- Smile, You May Be on Camera

By JON MCCONNY
Copy News Staff

SPRINGFIELD—A portable video tape equipment is now being used by the Illinois State Police for detection and prevention of law violations and for traffic safety.

This new concept will be used by Troopers 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100.

The new equipment is being used in 14 field districts, and in the criminal section, compared to a video camera recorder and a monitor.

Svensden has his portable videorecorder mounted in a tripod overlooking a road ahead. But it may be used from side to side or in close at Svensden's command. Next to the camera is the monitor and videorecorder with which Svensden can control the complete operation.

The new equipment has been used successfully since the first of August. It operates in the square of power from the car's battery power when it is used outside the square.

Several outstanding features are that the video tape can be used over and over and when using the camera out of the square car—the tape can be played back viewed, in the camera sighting area and re-shot if something was missed or overlooked on the first taping.

Svensden said he has used his unit in connection with various traffic violations and safety problems. The unit can also be used for accident investigations, raids, disturbance or nearly any situation which a law enforcement agency is needed, according to Svensden.

The state's attorney and courts in Svensden's district were contacted. They were impressed, and accepted it for court use.

Sgt. William J. Rydz of the Planning and Research Division said it is a most advanced piece of equipment in the area.

Workshop on Social Studies Set at Roxa A social studies workshop for the concept of inquiry training and techniques will be held Jan. 27 with eight two-hour sessions from 6:30 to 8:30 a.m. at Edwards Junior High School.

Reservations may be made by Jan. 13 at the office of Wilbur R. Trimpe, superintendent, educational service region. A certificate of participation will be awarded. The instructor will be Robert Standish, assistant at the Lebanon area service center of the Office of Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Drug Stores Must Post Base Prices

Drug stores and pharmacies must post the base prices of prescription drugs and pharmaceuticals, according to Jay G. Philpot, Internal Revenue Service District Director for central and southern Illinois.

"The sale of these items is the same as any other retail transaction and, therefore, falls under the Economic Stabilization Act price control regulations," he said.

Mr. Philpot emphasized that even though most states have laws which prohibit the advertising of prescription drug prices, the posting requirements still apply. The price control regulations were established under federal law and preempt state law where there is a conflict.

In general, the price control regulations require all retailers to post base price lists of all food products other than raw agricultural commodities and unprocessed sex foods. In addition, retailers must post in each store department the base prices of the 40 items with the highest sales volume, or those items which account for 50 percent or more of the department's sales, whichever is less.

Realizers with under $100,000 annual sales volume can meet the base price posting requirements as a single department.

Drug Training Session Planned for Police

The Division of Criminal Justice at Belleville Area College will offer a special six-day training program from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Wednesday, Jan. 26, at Fischer's Restaurant, entitled "Investigating Drug Cases."

The program will deal with such subjects as how to develop informants; how to recognize marijuana, heroin, LSD, and amphetamine; how and where drugs are concealed; and the practical way to handle drug abuse.

A special feature of the program will be presentation by three addicts who supported their drug habit by prostitution, burglary, and robbery. Ronald Grimming, special agent of the Illinois Bureau of Investigation, will be the instructor.

The enrollment fee of $15 per officer will include course materials and a luncheon. Departments desiring to enroll officers in this program or ask any questions should contact Mr. Melroy Hutnick, supervisor of the Division of Criminal Justice at Belleville Area College, 235-5113.

"The Last Tribes of Mindanao"

Stone age men come into the 20th century in this fascinating television show that reveals the existence of a lost tribe discovered only last year in the rain forests of the Philippine Island of Mindanao.

National Geographic cameramen were on hand when this important and astonishing discovery was made of a people who knew nothing of any aspect of the modern world or other men. As you will see on this show, the Tasaday tribe, leading lives typical of prehistoric man, didn't even know of the existence of the sea even though they and their ancestors, thousands of years before them, have lived on an island.

Don't miss this one-in-a-million television show.

Winless Cougars Seek 1st Victory Tonight

Coach Jim Dudley's Southern Illinois University-Southwestern basketball team, 0-8 after dropping a 33-24 decision Saturday night to the Quincy College Hawks on the Edwardsville High gym floor, will host the Louisiana-College Wildcats at 8 p.m. tonight.

The loss to Quincy College, which saw the Hawks outshoot the Cougars 36 of 62 from the floor compared to SIU-SW's 24 of 36, could be traced once again to Dudley's problem all season—injuries to key personnel.

Sitting on the sideline in street dress were two of the Cougars' veterans, Jerry Bloomer and Denny Thorneburg. The Bloomer and Thorneburg duo was primarily responsible for the Cougars' 12-2 record at this stage of last season's campaign.

Bloomer, who was sidelined with a broken ankle in 1970-71 mid-season, is SIU-SW's leading rebounder and has been averaging 10 points a game. His present trouble is a painful left knee. Thorneburg, who was operated on for an injured knee in mid-October, had to have the same knee drained last week.

Quincy's attack was led by 6-5 John Nordman, who prepopped at St. Louis Augustinian High. Nordman paced the Hawks with 31 points on 11 field goals and 12 rebounds. It was his sensational first half shooting, in which he connected on eight of 12 from the floor, which gave Quincy its 49-30 half-time lead.

Despite making only one bucket, Ramsey's first start for the Cougars looked promising. A Robert Morris Junior College standout for two seasons, Ramsey enrolled at North Texas State but injuries forced his withdrawal from school. However, on enrolling at SIU-SW, he had to lay out of school for a season. His two-season lay-off appeared to hurt his shooting in the Quincy game.

First Victory?
In tonight's encounter with Louisiana College, the Cougars will be attempting to not only post their first victory of the season but to avenge a last-second 80-79 loss to the Wildcats suffered on SIU-SW's three-game losing trip through Louisiana right before Christmas.

Marv Reno, an O'Fallon native, did in the Cougars as he scored 19 points for Louisiana College. Bloomer took scoring honors for SIU-SW in that game with 18 points.

The Cougars will entertain the Southwest Baptist College Bearcats, reputed to be the tallest small college in the nation, including 7-12 freshman Mike Carr of Lebanon, Mo., on Wednesday night.

There was one other bright spot in the Cougars' loss to Quincy. That was the play of Otis Ward, senior from Kankakee, who became eligible the first of January. He contributed nine points and appeared to be ready to go full time if Dudley needs him, which he will. If the news from the hospital operating room doesn't get better soon, SIU-SW team trainer, Wilfred "Bud" Budell, said he thought Bloomer may be ready to start against Louisiana College tonight. In Thorneburg's case, however, he'll be lucky to get back for a week or more. His 18-point average would help the Cougars.

Sophs Squeak By Lancer Five

A narrow, 57-54 victory by the Granite City High School sophomore basketball team at Belleville East Thursday gives the local team a 3-4 (won-loss) record so far this season.

GCHS held a slight lead over the Lancers at the end of each quarter—12-11, 27-26 and 42-38. High point man for the local sophomores were Don Lloyd with 18 points and Dale Williams with 13.

GCHS sophomores have three cage games this week. They travel to Belleville Althoff today, host Bethalto on Tuesday and go to East St. Louis for a Thursday tilt. All games begin at 6:30 p.m.

Senior Citizens Succeeding As Small Business Advisors

By RAY McHUGH
Chief, Washington Bureau
Capitol News Service

WASHINGTON — An office in the basement of an Episcopal Church in Chattanooga has placed 119 senior citizens in part-time jobs.

Thirty-nine retired business executives in Cincinnati have helped counsel 600 small businesses on tax problems, purchase techniques, sales, production and personnel matters. They receive no pay. The firm benefited reimbursees the counselors out-of-pocket travel costs.

Twenty-nine retired executives have launched a similar program in San Antonio, Tex. A day care center and a training center for the mentally retarded are taking shape in Lebanon, N.H., both to be managed by retired volunteers.

Twenty Vietnam veterans of the New York veterans' hospital are studying business administration under experienced volunteer executives.

A former Sears Roebuck store manager has "rescued" a husband-wife hardware store in Philadelphia from bankruptcy and helped turn it into a $15,000-a-year business.

Thirty low-income families in Milwaukee have been organized into a buyers' cooperative.

A Portland, Ore., company is employing women in their own homes to make files for sport fishermen throughout the Northwest.

Each is a success story for "SCORE," a government sponsored Service Corps of Retired Executives that is emerging as one of the Nixon administration's most promising volunteer programs.

Established in 1964 by the Small Business Administration to tap the talents of the 5,400,000 people in the small business community, it was designed to recruit retirees as volunteers, applying their experience and skills to the problems of small businesses, particularly those trying to develop enterprises in low-income or minority areas.

Early results were spotty and disappointing, SCORE officials admit.

"There wasn't much impetus from SBA," said one.

The picture has been changing rapidly in recent months. Reorganized in July as part of the Nixon "Action" program, SCORE has been brought under the same government tent with the Peace Corps, VISTA, the Foster Grandparent Program, the Active Corps of Executives (ACE), the Retired Senior Volunteer Program and the University Year For Action.

SCORE now reports more than 5,000 volunteers working in almost 300 chapters across the country. It represents about one-fifth of Action's volunteer effort.

The project is a two-way street says L. Robert Castor, a senior SCORE staff officer who has just returned to Washington after a tour of midwestern states "looking for problems to solve."

Castor, a retired Army colonel with a decade of experience in the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and the National Federation of Independent Business, contends that in addition to helping hard-pressed firms survive, SCORE also is providing a tonic to retired executives.

"I've seen a lot of these volunteers really perk up," he said.

"It's a new lease on life when you discover that your experience and skill still count; that they can be useful; that they're not just discarded by society. 'Anyone can talk about horsepower, jet power or atomic power, but it's still human power that really counts. 'If we can harness and motivate this reservoir of talent in our retired community and if we can get the services of some active executives on loan from corporations, we can help a lot of people and the country. 'No one likes to see a business fail. It's a personal blow and a loss to any community. 'Our job is to help them succeed.' At Cincinnati's Business and Cultural Exposition, Castor and Abraham Venable, director of urban affairs for the General Motors Corp., preached the formation of trade associations to strengthen minority and fledgling businesses.

Castor singled out the Chattanooga experiment as one that could point the way for a serious combined attack on such problems as unemployment, welfare and social direction among the aged.

fact that on three occasions the university has forwarded chronologies of the development of the program to the BHE showing that it was begun before approval of the BHE was required.

"What they want us to do now is submit the program so that they can approve it, and yet, beforehand, they have told us they won't approve it, which means that we are damned if we do and damned if we don't," Rendeiman said.

The final decision on the engineering program is up to the SIU trustees who will meet at Southwestern Jan. 21. Rendeiman said he would urge the trustees to disregard the BHE recommendation and continue to develop the engineering program which has more than 200 students enrolled. Funds for engineering, he said, could come from reductions in other university programs.

the city was to meet the deadline.

In December, acting on an offer made by the engineering firm, in which it agreed to guarantee the city against any loss of interest if it used money that was on deposit in savings certificates, a majority of the council overrode the mayor's objections and voted to authorize the engineers to begin detailed construction plans.

At the same time the council set off another prolonged fight with the mayor over the appointment of a bond attorney who would handle legal matters in connection with a $3 million revenue bond issue that would be necessary to finance initial construction work.

Appoint Bond Attorney
On Dec. 20, during regular council meeting, Alderman R. E. Robertson, who has spearheaded most of the conflicts with the mayor, made a motion that State Rep. Horace Calvo of Granite City be appointed as bond attorney.

Mayor Partney protested that Calvo could not hold the post because it would cause a conflict of interest. The sewage treatment program will be financed to a great extent by state and federal funds. City Attorney Leon Scroggins supported the mayor with legal opinions in which he said Calvo's service as bond attorney would be a violation of constitutional as well as statutory provisions because Calvo would be involved in a project involving funds voted by the legislature of which the attorney is a member.

The mayor vetoed Robertson's motion for Calvo's appointment, but the council took no action on it. Instead the aldermen approved an ordinance naming Calvo as bonding attorney and setting up terms of the contract between the city and the attorney.

After adoption of the ordinance, Mayor Partney announced that he was withdrawing from participation in the sewage treatment program. He told the aldermen he would prepare copies of all documents and information he has on the project and turn it over to the council's Pollution Plait Committee.

"I wouldn't touch this project now with a ten-foot pole," the mayor remarked.

He said, however, that he would have no objection to Calvo as bond attorney if Calvo were not a member of the General Assembly. Scroggins said he felt the same way.

Whether or not Mayor Partney remains out of the picture in developing the treatment program remains to be seen. As head of the city government he is invested with considerable statutory power and can do much either to delay or to expedite the program.

The mayor's signature will be required on any bond issue the council may decide upon, and his cooperation would be essential to obtaining federal and state grants.

City officials say it will take from three to four months to complete publications and other procedures necessary to a bond issue. Under provisions for state and federal pollution grants, which are administered by the Environmental Protection Agency, the city must provide funds for initiating construction work and must have 25% of the work under way before it becomes eligible for grants.

Thus a bond issue has been proposed as the only means by which the city can complete engineering work and begin construction of the secondary treatment facilities.

Police said the produce company vehicle, traveling east on Niedringhaus Avenue, was operated by Roland Schiffer of Defiance, Mo.

Drives Along Median
At 9:30 p.m. Friday, Finis E. Parker, 2307 Hodges Ave., told police he misjudged the turn while driving his auto from Nameoki Village Shopping Center into Nameoki Road and ended up on the center median.

The motorist said he drove about 20-feet along the raised strip before returning to the roadway.

Another collision resulted on Nameoki Road, near Fehling Road, at 8:45 p.m. Friday when the driver attempted to change lanes and collided with a second car traveling the same way.

Operating the vehicle was William B. Drew Jr., 3121 Maryville Road and Felix Tucker, 2160 Jaden Ave., police said. A minor collision at the near parking lot at Granite City High School at 9:30 a.m. Friday, involved autos driven by Mrs. Kathryn A. Clark, 2508 Jerden Ave., and Steven Costello, 3243 Maryville Road.

Motorist Ticketed
Charles J. Logas Jr., 1621 Wellinton Drive, was charged with following too close at 4:10 p.m. Friday, after he was involved in an accident at St. Clair and Myrtle avenues.

Driver of the second car, Mrs. Kathleen M. Falls, of 2713 Dale Ave. sustained minor injuries, police stated.

Harry Lilli, 23, of Collinsville, was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital at 3:15 a.m. Saturday for a hematoma to the left side of the head, following a traffic accident. He was x-rayed and released.

Jeanette Sexton, 24, of 6 Harrison St., was treated for abrasions to the face and nose at 4:25 p.m. Friday as the result of an auto mishap. She also was released after treatment.

Complain of Pain
Mrs. Juanita Ervin, 36, of 1212 Logan St., Madison, underwent x-rays at St. Elizabeth Hospital at 7:45 p.m. Saturday, after she complained of back pain resulting from an auto accident at 11 a.m. the same day.

The auto of Frank Fuzessery, 1610 Madison Ave., parked at Cleveland Boulevard and Niedringhaus Avenue, was struck by a hit-and-run driver, it was reported at 1:35 p.m. Sunday.

Four Persons Indicted In Area Burglaries

The Madison County Grand Jury, in returning five indictments Thursday afternoon, named four persons involved in Granite City burglaries.

Three of the true bills charged William J. Valenzuela, 25, of Collinsville, and Glenn H. Stagg, 23, no address, with burglary on Dec. 24 at the home of Joseph Lapinski, 2265 W. St. and Harry Hanna, 2412 Iowa St., and on Dec. 29 at the home of Francis Grabowski, 3161 Willow Ave.

David E. Dickens, 30, of 1739 Chestnut St., and Steve A. Muller, 18, of 1501 Edwardsville Road, were charged with the burglary of the auto of Mary E. Schaefer, 4012 Laura Drive, in downtown Granite City on Dec. 20.

The court accepted guilty pleas from Shiron W. Berry, 37, and Herbert E. Metcalf, 40, of St. Louis, for the burglary of the Phelps-Dodge Credit Union office on July 20. The applied for probation, and a hearing is set for Jan. 26.

GC Case Among Those Cited with Pride by Director of Illinois Environmental Agency

Copley News Service

SPRINGFIELD — It takes a heap of altruism — or the fear of a bad press — to move a city or an industry off profitable desert center of the world to fighting pollution.

And what purity of motive or fear of unfavorable publicity won't accomplish, a good exemplary enforcement case, hopefully coupled with a stiff fine, often will.

At least that's the finding of William L. Blaser, director of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency.

As a result of this philosophy, and 11 months in office, Blaser has found two things: action to curb pollution is being taken widely throughout the state, and Blaser personally isn't going to win any popularity contests.

Lack of personal popularity obviously doesn't bother the Chicago-born fiscal authority and management consultant expert.

What does concern him is the success the EPA has had to date in convincing at least some communities and industries that the state is in dead earnest about enforcing anti-pollution laws.

"It's going to take time to see final results. But, meanwhile, there is a check-point where you can see if you're getting action," Blaser says. "That centers on whether anti-pollution facilities are being installed, and whether pollution sources are being curtailed. In both cases, they are."

Key to this achievement is the enforcement case, Blaser feels.

"Control costs money. A company which installs pollution control devices is going to show less profit that year."

"A municipality which dumps its sewage raw into the river is going to have lower taxes."

"Companies like to make money; politicians like to say that, under their leadership, taxes didn't go up. So it takes altruism, or a fear of unfavorable publicity, to get them to move."

By and large, the director feels the citizen gets a better bargain in most of his elected officials than he believes he does; Blaser finds things looking pretty good in the altruism market these days.

But in case nobility fails, there is always the authority of the Pollution Control Board.

Framed in his office, Blaser has a copy of the PCB's ruling against Mattoon, in a case which Blaser considers a classic example of municipal food-dragging.

After several years of delay, the city was forced to let a substantial performance bond, was ordered to install adequate sewage treatment facilities, was given a deadline to meet for each step of the operation, was fined $1,000 and was given an official verdict spanning for good measure.

You're never too old to hear better

Chicago, Ill. — A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest Beltone aid ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone answering this advertisement.

Try it to see how it is worn in the privacy of your own home without cost or obligation of any kind. It's yours to keep, free. It weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit. No wires lead from body to head.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Write to Dept. 2125, Beltone Electronics Corp., 4201 W. Victoria, Chicago, Ill. 60646.

In contrast, Blaser said, the town of Marion also stalled for time. But when the EPA brought action against Marion before the Control Board, the community burst into action so efficiently that—by the time the hearing was held two months later—Marion was well on its way to the sewage plant it needed.

The town also received a fine—a token penalty of $100—and was officially commended by the Control Board for its civic responsibility.

"I have a kind of rule of thumb I like to use," Blaser says. "I think the amount of a fine should equal the amount people save by violating the law."

Noteworthy among other occurrences during his less than one year in the director's office were a $149,000 fine levied against the GAF firm, and a plan—although the traditional R decision by Granite City Steel Co. to install pollution control devices on their coke ovens—something which the industry had previously maintained couldn't be done under the then existing technology.

Later research and development permitted the local control plan—a plan—although the traditional R decision by Granite City Steel Co. to install pollution control devices on their coke ovens—

With that sort of record, it's understandable why Blaser feels he isn't going to be named "Mr. Congeniality."

On the other hand, he may be right about altruism in high places: the mayor of Mattoon has awarded him a key to the city. It's on display in the same frame with the copy of the PCB Mattoon ruling.

The New Year started off with a bang. Last week was really a busy week. It started early Monday morning and never quit.

We just received the "weight watchers" chocolate flavoring. All you weight watchers can now make those exotic non-fattening desserts now.

We have many fine comments on the new Chef's Best Cottage Cheese. It is being packed for us by the Millstadt Creamery and so far we are very pleased with the quality. If you haven't tried it, do so and let us know what you think.

Check the discount drug items we have in today's ad. These are some exceptional buys and we think the items are popular ones that many people buy. Here is a real chance to save big money on drug items.

We still have some items on special order that have not arrived but be patient, they will come in. Incidentally, if there is any item which we do not now stock which you would like to buy in our store, just let us know and we'll do our best to put the item in.

Ogilvie Releases Sewage Treatment Funds

A state check for $278,853 has been released to the City of Collinsville to assist in the construction of improved sewage treatment facilities, Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie has announced.

The state funds represent either full or partial payment of a 20% share of eligible project costs, made available to local government agencies under the Illinois Anti-Pollution Bond Act passed by voters last November.

Total cost of the Collinsville project is $5,049,640, with $5,049,640 eligible for state assistance. On Aug. 30, 1971, a state grant offer of $1,251,100 was made. A balance of $972,307 is still forthcoming from the state, according to William

L. Blaser, director of the Environmental Protection Agency. The Illinois EPA administers the grant program.

The funds granted to Collinsville will be used for construction of a new advanced sewage treatment plant that will have efficient chlorination facilities.

Gov. Ogilvie also released checks totaling nearly $3 million in state aid for the construction of 11 other sewage treatment plant improvements.

"State assistance to local communities in the effort to clean up our streams, rivers and lakes now totals nearly $13 million," Gov. Ogilvie pointed out, "with millions more being processed for early distribution."

The state is demonstrating its commitment by matching water pollution concerns with actual dollar aid, the governor said, in an effective partnership with local governments to improve the environment for all Illinois citizens.

Checks released include $1,223,832 for eight projects within the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago, and $1,687,646 for four improvements in other communities.

TRANSACTION CLOSED: Southern Illinois University-Southwestern took title Thursday to the former Shurtleff College campus in Alton. Leo E. Thompson, center, assistant trustee of the First National Bank & Trust Co., Alton, gave the property to SIU-SW President John S. Rendleman, left, and Vice-President for Business Affairs B. D. Huggins. In return, Rendleman presented the bank with $4,000, the final payment of a series beginning in 1959. The campus is the home of the University's new School of Dental Medicine. SIU-SW entered into a lease purchase agreement with the Shurtleff College Property Trust in 1957. At that time the property was appraised at $718,500. The agreement called for payment of 7% of the appraised value annually, with half of that amount to apply against the $718,500 purchase price.

Barn Dinner Theatre Trip

Feb. 8; Limit Reservations

Another "first" is being planned by the Granite City Park District which will offer a special excursion to a barn dinner theatre show near Effingham, Mo., on Tuesday, Feb. 8.

Only 43 reservations are available for the trip, chartered bus to the Barn Dinner Theatre at Ellisville, Harold Brown, park superintendent, said today. Reservations may be made prior to Jan. 28, by calling the Wilson Park Office at 877-2629.

Patrons will enjoy a "barn dinner" buffet, an entertaining stage production by a New York company in the picture atmosphere of a large Pennsylvania Dutch barn, Brown explained.

The barn is decorated inside and out with rural antiques and early American decor and the smorgasbord-style supper will offer a choice of roast beef, fried chicken, seafood and a large variety of desserts, vegetables, salads and nuts, the park official noted.

Those taking the trip will view the play, "A Thousand Clowns," starring Barry Robbins, who has received critical acclaim for his role in the new Stanley Kramer film, "Bless the Beasts and Children."

Co-starring with him will be Harry Cauley, Nancy Chesney, Stan Edelman, McWaynes and Willy Swintosky. Frank Wayne will direct the comedy by Herb Gardner.

"A Thousand Clowns" is the story of a bachelor uncle, a TV script writer, trying to treat a precocious nephew. The uncle, slightly bohemian life is found by a team of social workers not exactly the proper environment for a young boy. The uncle's fight against re-employment by a sticky television kid, die show and to still keep his nephew forms the basis of the plot.

The Barn Dinner Theatre only recently was opened by Alice and Lois Stevens on Chester Road in West St. Louis County. Located about two miles west of Ellisville, the barn is one of 22 similar entertainment centers operating throughout the country. The shows are Equity Productions that are cast in New York.

SPRING GIRL SCOUT PLANS ARE OUTLINED

Plans were made for a neighborhood mother-and-daughter tea during the January meeting of Neighborhood Three Girl Scout leaders held Wednesday at St. John's United Church of Christ. A discussion was held on recruiting in January.

The chairman, Mrs. Doris Stotz, presided and reports were given by the secretary, Mrs. Yolma Collins, on monthly expenditures and on a "festival of giving" program held in December, when the troops donated baskets to the Protestant Welfare.

Mrs. Stotz asked leaders to begin collecting registration fees for a March 1 deadline membership year is $2.

The chairman gave a report on an advance cookie sale which will commence Feb. 18 and a March 28 international dinner for the adult membership. At the dinner, the neighborhood will represent Holland. The five neighborhoods are to gather at St. Peter's Church.

Mrs. Pat Eaton is in charge of the annual "bunny boxes" for patients at Alton State Hospital. The Easter treats are due in by March 24.

Also discussed was the second annual art show; it will be coordinated by Mrs. Joan Yater April 29 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at St. John's. More information will be presented at the next meeting Feb. 1.

Miss Linda Polette reported on a Browne fun day at Camp Lakota May 15. It will have a storybook theme.

The leaders voted a complete change in the festival program for 1972. Mrs. Mae Lee will be chairman of a neighborhood trip scheduled for June.

The service team provided refreshments to those mentioned and Mesdames Skippy Kidman, Annette Scruse, Barbara Blackburn, Barbara Walker, Carol Squires, Ruth Schreiber, Mary Havron, Jo Stephens, Rosemarie Ortiz, Pauline Bell, Eva Arbogast, Gloria Joyce and Vivian Davis.

Mrs. Davis concluded the meeting with a talk on the patrol system and the general operations of a Cadette troop. She told how a leader can prepare a Junior Scout for the Cadette program.

Thief at GC Steel

Two electric calculators, valued at $68 and $70, were stolen Thursday night or early Friday from the Industrial Engineering Department office at Granite City Steel Co., 20th Street and Madison Avenue. The theft was reported at 4:20 p.m. Friday by Joe Schall of the plant security division.

10 Batteries Stolen

Thieves clipped the cables and removed 10 batteries from new and used autos at Brower Motors, 22nd Street and Madison Avenue, police were told at 11:45 a.m. Friday. Two truck batteries and eight 12-volt batteries, valued at $250, were taken.

Buddy Davis to Run As District Delegate

Buddy Davis, representative of the Granite City subdistrict of the United Steelworkers of America, will seek election as a delegate to the National Democratic Convention from the 23rd Congressional District, he announced today.

Davis said he will file as an uncommitted delegate.

Jr. College Teacher Explains Program

"Better secretaries mean better business and practice human relations on the job," stated Mrs. Rosellen Oswalt, guest speaker at the Tri-Cities Chapter, National Secretaries Association, dinner meeting Thursday evening.

Mrs. Oswalt is a teacher of Office Occupations at Belleville Area Junior College and the wife of Charles Oswalt, Belleville superintendent of schools. She went on to outline the importance of being sensitive to the needs of other people, using the "magic" words to develop good human relations, developing and maintaining a positive attitude and becoming genuinely interested in people.

She concluded her presentation by asserting that a particular situation is not important; it is the individual's reaction to the situation which counts.

The meeting was opened by President Twila Edmonds who introduced three Future Secretaries Association officers. The special guests were Karen Romine, president; Janet Lambert, recording secretary; and Connie Kutosky, treasurer.

Also a guest was Mrs. Mary Ann Johnson of the Dixie Mill Co., East St. Louis.

Reports were submitted by Linda Fitzgibney, secretary, and Jane Davis, treasurer.

Chapter members agreed to support the nomination of the Great Lakes District "Secretary of the Year," Mrs. Anna Marie Surgenor, for the office of Great Lakes district director.

A party held for residents of the Madison County Shelter Care Home was reviewed by Ernestine Hahn, Gerry Sharp and Mary Ann Johnson. Mrs. Edmonds announced the chapter received $50 in donations while ringing bells for the Salvation Army "Tree of Lights" drive.

Dolores Bourisaw, program chairman, said the speaker at the February meeting will be Tom Kolesa of General Steel Industries, Castings Division. His topic, "Transportation," will reflect the Association's "Program of the Year" which is determined by NSA international headquarters for discussion by over 600 chapters in the country.

The 1972 LACE award winner will be announced at the same meeting.

Mrs. Charlene Vunovic, Future Secretaries chairman, summarized a meeting of the group held at the Granite City High School which featured a panel of secretaries from various industries. The panelists were Dorothy Luckert, secretary to GCHS Principal Lawrence McCauley; Mrs. Marcia Barron, legal secretary at the Calumet and Hill law firm; Mrs. Ruth Houser of Houser Automotive; and Mrs. Vunovic, secretary at General Steel Industries.

Members were asked to designate how many named and to Mrs. Hunsinger. Mrs. Hunsinger, secretary of the Women's Society of Christian Service Tuesday evening.

Refreshments were served by hostesses, Mrs. Ruth Purvey and Mrs. Ruby Corbett, to Mesdames Bessie Lindley, Pearl Campbell, Dorothy Frohardt, Pauline Cox, Elsie Henley, Virginia Helms, Dolores Vogler, Esther Taylor, Lucy Weaver, Susie Kniffen and Virginia Hobe.

Plans also were made for a school of missions, to take place in January and February, and to present a program on "Africa" at the monthly meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service Tuesday evening.

REJECTS IMPLICATIONS

OF DISMISSAL BY COUNTY.

To the Editor:

As a follow-up to my statement last week I want to make the following comment.

I am not so concerned about losing my job as superintendent of the Madison County juvenile detention home as I am of the implications involved, although the job was of importance.

I want to state clearly and unequivocally that everything I did was open and above board at all times in the conduct of the office.

My father, Marion R. Groshong, was well known throughout the county and state. He was an honorable man.

He was sincere and conscientious. He helped many obtain jobs, including heads of families, and high school and college students.

I learned from him. That is my life style. And I want it to be that way. I came from that kind of home and will always follow these principles.

I want my name and reputation cleared of this cloud that has been unjustly cast upon me.

For the sake of my family and our future.

With the help of public opinion, this will be brought to a logical conclusion.

This Week in America's History

1772—New York colony, like others, was sharply affected at this time by the growing controversy over British policy relating to exports and imports.

The city and colony of New York had been developing since September, 1699, when Henry Hudson, an Englishman in the service of the Dutch East India Co., brought the ship Half Moon into the harbor and sailed up what became known as the Hudson River, almost to the present site of Albany.

Hudson's expedition established a Dutch claim to the territory. In 1614 that government granted a charter to Dutch merchants to engage in fur trading, with a post called Fort Nassau established south of present day Albany.

Destroyed by floods in 1617, it was replaced by Fort Orange, occupied by 18 Dutch and 100 Indian families. In 1621 another charter was granted to the Dutch West India Co. for trade and colonization in what was called New Netherland.

A Dutch settlement was made in 1625 on the lower part of the island of Manhattan around Fort Amsterdam, and presently named New Amsterdam.

In 1628 the director general, Peter Minuit, bought the entire island from the Indians in exchange for goods and trinkets worth 60 guilders, or $24.

To further promote settlement of the Hudson River valley, the Dutch West India Co. introduced a system of patronship in 1629 whereby members of the company who were given 50 or more acres as colonists within a four-year period received large estates for themselves, as much as 50 miles square, with power to govern those areas.

The first cotton mill in America had been constructed at Waltham, Mass., in 1813 by Francis Cabot Lowell, who had devised an improved loom after earlier visit to mills in England.

In 1826 the ship was his brother-in-law, P. T. Jackson. Lowell died in 1817, and Jackson in 1822 bought property in Chelmsford, Mass., where he conceived the idea of using power generated by the Merrimack River.

In 1828 the town was incorporated and renamed Lowell. As a great center for the manufacture of cotton goods, and wool after 1830, it became known as the "Manchester of America" during the following years.

In 1849, Greek Assembly declares Greek independence of Turkish rule — a step in the 1821-1830 Greek war of independence.

1871 — Statue of Roger Williams, founder of Rhode Island colony in a 1639 settlement of the site of Providence, is accepted by Congress from the state of Rhode Island for placement in the Capitol Rotunda.

Alexander Scriabin, noted pianist and composer, born in Moscow, where he also was to die in 1915.

Trained for a military career, he turned to music, in which he attained distinction when he was only 20.

A professor in the Moscow Conservatory from 1898-1903, he subsequently devoted his attention to musical composition for piano and symphony.

Author Assails Astrology as Bunk

THE OCCULT CONCEPT; by Owen S. Rachleff; Cowley Book Co., Inc., 240 Pages; $6.95.

Reviewed by ROBERT BETTS

Cowley News Service

Astology, palmistry, crystal gazing, numerology, witchcraft, sorcery and magic — it's all bunk.

For centuries people have been fooling themselves that there's something called the supernatural.

All these ghosts they thought they saw are hallucinations, or tricks of light or smoke, or produced by man-made trickery.

All those premonitions, strange dreams which seemed to foretell the future, and countless recorded cases of so-called clairvoyance and telepathy can be explained in terms of psychology or other known natural phenomena.

So asserts the author of this scathing attack on all things occult.

Owen S. Rachleff doesn't debunk just for the sake of debunking.

He points to dangers which he sees in a society that goes on allowing itself to be deluded by beliefs and practices founded on fear, superstition, eccentricity and irrational evidence.

He believes that the uniformed "founder in a net of old wives' tales and misconceptions, because they wish to avoid the sharp edges of reason and reality," and that the only ones who profit are the charlatans.

Of course this is only one man's skepticism, and while a believer may be hard put to prove that witches ever actually flew on brooms, Rachleff can't prove that they didn't. He can only conjecture — that they were on a drug trip.

At least he can claim some authority on the subject. He teaches "Witchcraft, Magic and Sorcery" at New York University.

He knows his history of the occult and he gives a fascinating account of it, from its Stone Age stirrings, through Egyptian and other pre-Christian mythology, right up to modern times.

"American witchcraft today flourishes in over 400 functioning covens located mostly in Boston, Detroit, Los Angeles and New York," he says.

But the reader is assured, "Neither 'white' nor 'black' witches today are as vicious as they are portrayed to be. They are capable of performing magic or sorcery."

"Their spells and incantations are patent frauds; their rituals, perverted parlor games."

He offers some plausible material explanations for phenomena that to many people, past and present, have seemed inexplicable except as occult happenings. Hallucinated witches are one example.

Similarly, LSD apparently makes a good potion for "astral projection."

As for the rest, it can be accounted for by human psychology, auto-suggestion, hypnosis, coincidence or plain fakery, the author concludes.

Granting that such facts as astrology, palmistry, numerology, phrenology and Tarotology may be so much mumbo jumbo, as Rachleff's searching analysis suggests, his attack is not nearly so devastating when he zeroes in on such subjects as precognition, telepathy, ESP and psychic research.

He's inclined to believe too much on the fakers (and witches have been faking it) and skim over the enormous testimony and reports of investigators, who he included several notable seers.

In the author's opinion, they were either tricked, hypnotized or deluded.

All recorded predictions, from those of the biblical prophets to the modern-day Jean Dore, are put down to a mixture of guesswork and "flashes of insight."

"To them, to the committed occultist, to the skeptic as well, this work is addressed."

For all his skepticism, his book—with its fresh outlook and bold approach—should reward both believer and unbeliever.

"At the same time," he says,

"it may be hoped that this effort will be entertaining and informative, especially for those countless thousands who maintain a healthy curiosity about a fascinating subject."

For all his skepticism, his book—with its fresh outlook and bold approach—should reward both believer and unbeliever.

George Sullivan of the Control

Board staff said that since effort standards, which chiefly involve industrial pollution, have already been adopted, the remaining water standards to be considered will involve community and municipal waste problems.

The changes recommended are based on "scientific, engineering approaches" and in general involve limits of dissolved oxygen which must be maintained in streams.

These levels, in turn, are based substantially on studies which set levels at which fish can continue to live in streams.

Among the standards to be discussed are methods for removal of carbon and nitrogen particulates from waste water discharged into streams.

Hearings are usually the final phase of study before firm standards are adopted in pollution control; the Board has authority to set compliance dates, issue variances on occasion, and impose substantial fines for failure to comply.

Undisguised 'Up With Missouri, Down with Illinois' Comments by St. Louis Newspaper

The Globe-Democrat ostensibly serves the entire bi-state metropolitan area. But it is taking an unjustified anti-Illinois attitude in its comments lately about the proposed establishment of a new metropolitan airport.

In an editorial last week headed "All the Questions, Mayor," the Globe wrote the high questionable opinion that Lambert Airport, "with proper improvement, unquestionably can fill all the metropolitan community's need until 1990 and beyond."

Later in this commentary, the St. Louis newspaper said, "We will be interested in hearing from Mayor Cervantes (Jan. 9) how Louisiana's second major port at Waterloo, Ill., could up St. Louis. In all likelihood it would cost Missouri hundreds of millions of dollars in lost construction jobs, airport revenues and new growth while helping St. Louis very little, if at all."

On Friday, in an editorial, "For Metropolitan Airport Authority," the Globe-Democrat eagerly quoted Governor Hearnes of Missouri as Hearnes discussed what the newspaper called "the sterilizer of opportunity" of Mayor Cervantes and Governor Ogilvie of Illinois. The Missouri governor had said, "I cannot understand why some in the St. Louis area would sacrifice the best interest of the whole state to let governor of Illinois steal an airport."

The Globe went on to say that "the whole premise of the high-pressure campaign to go-ahead of the Columbia-Waterloo site is absolutely no need at the present time or a long time to come to build a second metropolitan airport in the region."

The newspaper called on Missouri legislators to create a "Missouri-St. Louis metropolitan airport authority" to serve "the best interests of the St. Louis region and Missouri, not Illinois and the pressure groups driving for an East Side port at the expense of Lambert and line users on this (Missouri) side of the river."

The attack continued today with a editorial, "Blockbuster on East Side Airport," which the ill-fated Spanish Pavilion was cited.

The editorial speculated that a Missouri legal opinion may put a "roadblock in the path of the Cervantes-delivered blockbuster aimed at pushing through an East Side port at the expense of Lambert and the state of Missouri."

Illinoisans and their governor apparently are going to be accused of all manner of selfish daily or every-other-day frequency — they have no effective way to reply to the top of the population of the bi-state region.

Today's editorial of the front-page story on a mayor's talk yesterday to "Citizens for Missouri" and "Citizens for Illinois."

He believes that the uniformed "founder in a net of old wives' tales and misconceptions, because they wish to avoid the sharp edges of reason and reality," and that the only ones who profit are the charlatans.

At least he can claim some authority on the subject. He teaches "Witchcraft, Magic and Sorcery" at New York University.

He knows his history of the occult and he gives a fascinating account of it, from its Stone Age stirrings, through Egyptian and other pre-Christian mythology, right up to modern times.

"American witchcraft today flourishes in over 400 functioning covens located mostly in Boston, Detroit, Los Angeles and New York," he says.

But the reader is assured, "Neither 'white' nor 'black' witches today are as vicious as they are portrayed to be. They are capable of performing magic or sorcery."

"Their spells and incantations are patent frauds; their rituals, perverted parlor games."

He offers some plausible material explanations for phenomena that to many people, past and present, have seemed inexplicable except as occult happenings. Hallucinated witches are one example.

Similarly, LSD apparently makes a good potion for "astral projection."

As for the rest, it can be accounted for by human psychology, auto-suggestion, hypnosis, coincidence or plain fakery, the author concludes.

Granting that such facts as astrology, palmistry, numerology, phrenology and Tarotology may be so much mumbo jumbo, as Rachleff's searching analysis suggests, his attack is not nearly so devastating when he zeroes in on such subjects as precognition, telepathy, ESP and psychic research.

He's inclined to believe too much on the fakers (and witches have been faking it) and skim over the enormous testimony and reports of investigators, who he included several notable seers.

In the author's opinion, they were either tricked, hypnotized or deluded.

All recorded predictions, from those of the biblical prophets to the modern-day Jean Dore, are put down to a mixture of guesswork and "flashes of insight."

"To them, to the committed occultist, to the skeptic as well, this work is addressed."

For all his skepticism, his book—with its fresh outlook and bold approach—should reward both believer and unbeliever.

"At the same time," he says,

"it may be hoped that this effort will be entertaining and informative, especially for those countless thousands who maintain a healthy curiosity about a fascinating subject."

For all his skepticism, his book—with its fresh outlook and bold approach—should reward both believer and unbeliever.

George Sullivan of the Control

Board staff said that since effort standards, which chiefly involve industrial pollution, have already been adopted, the remaining water standards to be considered will involve community and municipal waste problems.

The changes recommended are based on "scientific, engineering approaches" and in general involve limits of dissolved oxygen which must be maintained in streams.

These levels, in turn, are based substantially on studies which set levels at which fish can continue to live in streams.

Among the standards to be discussed are methods for removal of carbon and nitrogen particulates from waste water discharged into streams.

Hearings are usually the final phase of study before firm standards are adopted in pollution control; the Board has authority to set compliance dates, issue variances on occasion, and impose substantial fines for failure to comply.

Airport" headlined a small fragment of the meeting—"mayor accused of turning his back on Lambert"—instead of featuring the fact that an Illinois airport received solid backing from Mayor Cervantes and St. Louis City Comptroller John H. Poelker, Democrat, and St. Louis Aldermanic President Joseph L. Badaracco, a Republican.

It would be hard to imagine a more blatant example of geographic bias, not to mention head-in-the-sand illogic which purports to see an almost unlimited future for the comparatively small, obviously hemmed-in existing airport.

We think the Globe is wrong in its effort to torpedo a new airport, because if the torpedoing succeeds the entire St. Louis bi-state region seems destined to fall steadily behind other regions, losing out on growth and prosperity because of its lack of competitiveness in air transportation.

But entirely apart from the merits of the airport issue, it is disappointing to see a supposedly metropolitan publication take such a narrow, partisan "down with Illinois" and.

The charge of "stealing" was trumpeted not only in the Jan. 7 editorial but in screaming headline type on the previous day's front page.

If the newspaper is so concerned about promoting "construction jobs, revenues and growth" for Missouri and campaigning against such things for Illinois, maybe it ought to re-examine itself the "Missouri-St. Louis Globe-Democrat."

Great River Road, Route 203 Deserving Of Early 1972 Attention—Without Fail

The 1972 Illinois highway program includes $200,000 for acquisition of right-of-way for extension of Federal Aid Route 151 (Great River Road) from Niedringhaus Avenue in Granite City south to Broadway in Venice.

Madison County residents are hopeful that the right-of-way purchasing proceeds without a hitch and that such matters as utility line relocation and grade level separations also are expedited.

And the Division of Highways will need to keep in mind the long-delayed widening of Route 203 between Pontoon-Namekook Roads and Mitchell. This improvement also is a "must" for early 1972.

Appointment of Dr. Reed Sutton of East Alton as new director of air pollution control gives Granite City a full-time air quality officer for the first time.

His department is to be located at the city garage building, and duties will include establishing a control program and alert system, as well as monitoring, analyzing and forwarding pollution data and, where justified, signing complaints against violators.

Dr. Sutton is well equipped to handle the assignment; the research chemist and emission control designer has spent ten years in automobile pollution research and is among the pioneers in development of low-lead and lead-free fuels.

When he begins his duties Feb. 15, he will have the best wishes of not only the city fathers but the general public.

75-Year Store Operation by Buente Family

On the occasion of the 75th anniversary of Bunte's Shoe Store, the oldest Granite City retail establishment, thoughts go back to the founder, A. F. Buente Sr., who served on both the school board and city council, the latter when Julius Rosenberg was mayor.

In continuous operation for three-quarters of a century, and in its present location for more than 56 years, the store is still operated by the same family; his two sons, Arthur and William, are the owners.

The late evening snack includes an ounce of American cheese (73 calories), five saltine crackers (40) and coffee.

In adding up to 1,000 calories, the menu gives 94 grams of carbohydrates, 58 grams of protein and 45 grams of fat.

It was mentioned in the last issue that one of the advantages of this food plan is the ability to select the individual's caloric requirements from among the various food exchange groups.

He can tailor it to his own preferences and whims.

However, a few general guidelines need to be kept in mind.

Each day's consumption ought to include two glasses of milk; two servings of green or yellow vegetables; two servings of fruit, including a serving of citrus fruit or tomatoes; one serving of meat, fish, cheese or poultry; two servings of cereal and bread; and two servings of butter.

Three to five eggs a week are recommended in making the meal exchange list selections.

Although the day's menu may sound inadequate to match one's food needs and expectations, it is sufficiently balanced that both health and a reasonable degree of satisfaction can be maintained.

Cola and pretzel snacks are tabu, but Polish pickles and a diet soft drink can be enjoyed.

And I usually save a few calories for a dish of fruit or a piece of cheese to be eaten at random times.

Strong emphasis is given to consuming a substantial breakfast and then eating at regular intervals, but lightly, during the remainder of the day.

Some should not be a big meal unless one's work schedule calls for a lot of energy to be expended during the evening.

Although diet goals need to be kept in mind when making food purchase selections, the "fine print" has to be read. Food marked "dietetic" sometimes contain more calories than do regular food items.

Baking or boiling food is advised, rather than frying it. Through use of stick-proof cooking ware, the necessity for oil or shortening can be minimized.

I have not attempted to assess the value of "weight watchers" or "take off pounds" clubs, visits to reducing salons or other methods of achieving weight loss.

It is reduce my food intake without joining a group or being rapped or adopting a rigid exercise program or being buffeted about by reducing machines.

The cleverer works for each individual is fine; the key point is that he will probably enjoy life more and be more active if he keeps his weight at the level recommended by his physician.

I am convinced that periodic starving is not the way to diet. At no time during the past five months, when 80 pounds were being discarded, did I skip a meal or settle for one that lacked the diversity stipulated in the requirements.

While starvation is not the answer, limitation of calories does work and is fully controllable by the individual. He at all times commands his own laws, try as he may to reject the blame for his eating to others, such as those who cook for him or who tempt him by offering calorie-laden treats.

Just as recognition of a problem is the first step toward a solution, in itself, victory in a diet is attainable once the individual owns up to the fact that he alone is accountable and responsible.

An overweight person needs only to look in the mirror. Not at the figure, but at the face—and then recall the rallying cry of the environmentalists and ecologists: "We have made the enemy, and he is us."

Pollution Hearings to Affect Cities

Cowley News Service

A series of public hearings on proposed water quality standards for Illinois, including recommendations for "significant" changes in earlier proposed standards, have been set by the Pollution Control Board.

First of the series will be Jan. 26 in the auditorium of the Illinois Building on the State Fair grounds. Others have been set for Feb. 2 and Feb. 10 in the offices of the Liquor Control Commission in Chicago and Feb. 11 at the Waukegan Public Library.

The Institute for Environmental Quality has proposed changes in the suggested water quality standards and these changes will be among the topics at the hearings.

The meetings are of particular interest to communities and municipalities because, if adopted, requirements in some instances might actually be reduced, resulting in cost savings to the agencies involved.

Muskie-McCarthy Battle Could Embarrass Demos

By KEN WATSON
Copy News Service
Springfield—Statehouse Democrats are not especially inclined to quote Abraham Lincoln.

But it is understandable these days if they are recalling Lincoln's famed story about the Illinois man who was tarred and feathered and ridden out of town on a rail. Afterwards, Abe related, the man said if it hadn't been for the honor of the thing he would just as soon have walked.

That's about the way Illinois Democrats feel about the upcoming preferential primary battle between U.S. Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine and former Minnesota Sen. Eugene McCarthy. Despite some question as to whether McCarthy has to meet a loyalty oath requirement to get on the Illinois ballot, there is a general feeling beneath the Capitol dome that no serious effort will be made to keep him off and that the confrontation will indeed take place.

It is certain to be a lively affair and coupled with the gubernatorial fight matching Lt. Gov. Paul Simon and Walker, Dan Walker, Chicago attorney, Democrats are now assured of their most serious primary in more than a quarter-century.

Fear Among Demos
The regular Democrat organization views the Muskie-McCarthy imbroglio with ambivalence as much cheerful anticipation as it is dislike. Eisenhower's decision to run for a second term. The prospect of Muskie and McCarthy plus their supporters racing up and down the state and trading arguments in an invective enough to drive the hardest Chicago precinct worker back to the nearest saloon.

Downstate Democrats for the most part share the disdain of Chicago's regulars for McCarthy and his youth-accented liberalism. They can be counted to go strong for Muskie along with the shock troops of Mayor Richard J. Daley's powerful if aging machine, even if should Daley himself adopt a public hands-off attitude.

Although there is little doubt that Muskie will defeat McCarthy, there is a possibility that McCarthy, who often surprises, may run strong enough to embarrass Muskie and diminish his chances of carrying Illinois over President Richard M. Nixon in November.

Boost for Walker
It is also likely that the McCarthy fight will be a boost for Walker and add to the showing he has made against Simon, who bears the official endorsement of Daley and other party stalwarts.

At the least the McCarthy entry will spur big primary turnouts in college areas, expected may run strong enough to embarrass Muskie and diminish his chances of carrying Illinois over President Richard M. Nixon in November.

Perhaps, most disturbing of all, the McCarthy bid once again focuses public attention on Daley and his role as the last of the nation's big city bosses. Most professional politicians agree that if there is any firm trend in the clouded politics of 1972 it is a determination by voters to be independent and make their own choices.

Illinois is once again in the national spotlight. Statehouse Democrats would prefer that it shine elsewhere.

Students Hold Weekly Colloquium at SIU-SW

A student-organized weekly colloquium on dental medicine at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern has helped several students decide that dentistry is the profession they want to enter, says Daniel Stibich.

Stibich, of Belleville, a senior in pre-dentistry, is organizer of the sessions.

"We bring in guest lecturers so that this colloquium might give pre-professional students insight into the dental field," Stibich said. "Both pre-dental and pre-medical students have been attending. It has helped us all decide about our career," he says.

The colloquium was organized during the fall quarter, 1971. It resumed last week and will continue at 6:30 p.m. every Wednesday night at SIU-SW until the winter quarter ends in March.

The colloquium carries academic credit for undergraduates. Stibich said students may enroll through today.

The SIU-SW School of Dental Medicine provides many of the guest lecturers, Stibich said. Lecturers from other universities and from area hospitals also have participated.

Dr. John Angelillo, associate professor at the SIU-SW School of Dental Medicine, is faculty sponsor for the colloquium. Persons interested in enrolling may call Stibich at 234-0019.

First Judgment Against Age Discrimination

Springfield—The Illinois General Assembly still has a long way to go before it can pass a law that would subject in education circles—the formation of a state board of education.

Illinois' new constitution called for the formation of such a board, which in turn would select a state school superintendent. Current State School Supt. Michael J. Bakalis, 73, was elected to the post in 1970, will be the last to be selected on the statewide ballot.

The House last year passed a bill sponsored by Rep. Eugene S. Chapman, D-Arlington Heights, which called for the formation of a temporary board. However, when the measure got to the Senate it was sent to a special subcommittee of the Senate Education Committee. The bill is still in the hands of the subcommittee.

Rush of Activity at New Religious Center
The new Religious Center at the Southwestern campus of Southern Illinois University has received heavy use in its first two months, according to the United Campus Ministry.

One hundred and fifty-nine formal activities have been held between Oct. 25, the date of the dedication week, and the end of the year. This total does not include numerous informal sessions, such as counseling, which occupy the bulk of a minister's day.

Eighty-two events were sponsored by the Ministry itself. They included worship services, group meetings and daily devotions. Nine activities of a strictly denominational nature were held.

Students, faculty and administration sponsored 26 activities in the new structure, designed by the world-famous philosopher and architect R. Buckminster Fuller.

Weddings, memorial services, death counseling sessions, and community meetings comprised the remainder of the activities.

The United Campus Ministry is the association of the six campus ministers: Rev. Russell Wigfield, United Christian, Foundation; Rev. Robert Treat, United Methodist; Rev. Fr. James Shortall, Roman Catholic; Rev. Joseph Santego, American Baptist; Rev. Marcus Pira, Lutheran, Missouri Synod; and Rev. Fr. Michael Puljin, Episcopal.

State Board of Education Still a Touchy Subject

Meanwhile the School Problems Commission is continuing its study of the formulation of such a board. There are some lawmakers who feel that if such a board is created it should consider all of the problems of education in Illinois ranging from higher education to kindergarten.

Presently the state has a board of higher education, which governs the state universities and colleges along with the junior colleges. But under the board of higher education there are separate boards which also have control over the colleges and universities.

Selection a Question
Apparently one of the major hang ups in the Legislature is just how the state board of education would be chosen.

Under the Chapman proposal a board of education appointments commission would be formed to make temporary board function until the permanent board is selected.

Another major function of the board will be to choose the state school superintendent. A hassle has centered on just how the board would select a person for that spot. This probably will take a compromise in the legislature, but just what form it will take is not quite clear.

At any rate this is another area in which the General Assembly won't be able to continue to put off final action. Sooner or later the lawmakers will have to make a final determination as they will in other constitutional matters still pending in the General Assembly.

Agricultural Association to Seek End to Personal Taxes

The Illinois Agricultural Association is asking the state legislature to put elimination of personal property taxes as a high priority item on its legislative calendar when it convenes this month.

Farmers as a group are most concerned with property taxes, Herbert Klynstra, associate director for state legislation and public affairs of the Illinois Agricultural Association, the state Farm Bureau, said Friday.

Klynstra presented testimony Thursday at Springfield before the joint Senate-House personal property tax study committee.

Klynstra said the property tax is the hottest single item of discussion at the present time among farmers and that legislative action on this issue is eagerly anticipated in rural Illinois.

Total elimination of the personal property tax undoubtedly would be the first choice of Illinois farmers, Klynstra said. Barring elimination, they would hope for a sizable exemption for all payers of the personal property tax.

Klynstra said it is the policy of the statewide Farm Bureau to oppose any effort to classify personal property into income and non-income producing classes, to support legislation to abolish all personal property taxes at the earliest possible date, and to support the placement of the loss of revenues caused by such abolition with revenues from the state income tax.

The group offers to assist and encourage the state legislature to develop an equitable means of distributing the revenues of a statewide tax to replace the losses caused by abolishment of the personal property tax.

SIU-SW Professor on State Advisory Unit

Leo Cohen, a professor of economics at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern, has been selected to serve on the Illinois State Advisory Committee on School Finance by Michael J. Bakalis, state superintendent of public instruction.

Bakalis said Cohen was one of 14 school finance authorities who will make up a panel that will analyze suggested new methods for financing public education in Illinois. He said the group was formed as a reaction to a California Supreme Court ruling nullifying that state's educational finance system.

"A major focus of this committee's work will be to analyze the issue from the standpoint of the financial burden on taxpayers and the adequacy of the financial system to meet the goals of quality education in the state," Bakalis said.

Bakalis added, "Illinois can no longer rely on the local property tax as the primary source of school revenue. The California decision spotlighted the disparities it produces among school districts." He pointed out that "litigation now under court review in Illinois" challenges the same type of system and since our state constitution mandates (calls) for a change, we are compelled to give prompt consideration to alternative methods for achieving equitable financing and quality education for all."

In Memoriam 33

In loving memory of RICHARD DALE ROBINSON who passed away one year ago Jan. 11, 1971. Suddenly you left without me being at your side to give you comfort. Because they did not let me know you were ill. You are missed very much as you did so much for so many. But received no thanks as you deserved. God took you away from your suffering. And gave you rest and peace. When will my arms grow cold. When will your kiss grow cold. When will I want to be free one minute past Eternity. When will I make you bid. Cheat and run around on you. Throw away the love you have given me. One minute past Eternity. Eternity is forever, so darling have no fear. My love for you will last And last a million years. When will I say goodbye. Break your heart and make you cry. Tell you to forget about me. One minute past Eternity. Sadly missed by—FRIEDA VOLK 33-1-10
